JEWELRY AND COINS STOLEN.

Burglars Make a Haul Valued at Nearly $400. The home of William Bishop, the broker, No. 1219 Maryland avenue northeast, was robbed of nearly $400 worth of lewelry and ome souvenir coins last night about o'clock, during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Bishop. The former complained of having a headache and about 7 o'clock his wife went out with him to take a walk. They strolled as far as the Congressional Library and returned a few minutes after 8 o'clock.

Before reaching their home a bright light was seen in the front bed room, and Mr. was seen in the front bed room, and Mr. Bishop remarked to his wife that she had neglected to turn off the gas. The latter was positive she had not, and it required but a glance after the door was opened to determine why the gas was turned so high. Burglars had turned the house into a state of disorder that came near giving it the appearance of having been visited by a siasher. Articles of furniture, clothing and brie-a-brac had been turned topsy-tury. The rooms on the upper floor had also been visited and bureau drawers, dressers and he rooms on the upper floor had also been sired and bureau drawers, dressers and upboards had been emptied by persons who dently wanted nothing but jewelry and sh. Seven diamond rings, worth from $25$ to $150; a pair of earrings worth $50, and another pair valued at about $15, were among the articles taken. A number of Columbian half dollars and some foreign coins were also taken, as was a revolver.

The police were notified and Detectives McNamee, Horne and Brown, from headquarters, and Precinct Detective Williams of the ninth precinct, visited the house and made an investigation. They found that the burgars had effected an entrance by breaking a pane of glass in the basement window. This enabled them to unfasten the lock and raise the window. It is believed the one who broke the window cut his hand, as blood stains were found on the wearing appared that had been removed from the bureau drawers. The police are confident that the robbery was committed by two men.

THE MEDICAL SOCIETY.

A Paper Read by Dr. Jacoby and a Reception by Dr. Acker.

Last night was a big night for the medical profession. Incidentally there was a meeting of the Medical Society, at which Dr. A. F. Jacoby, the well-known physician of New York, read a paper on fevers their causation, diagnosis and treatment by antifebrins. The paper proved one of great inlargest audiences ever present at a meeting. The learned physician handled his subject with great care and went exhaustively into the matter of fevers, bringing out several new features,

After the meeting of the society Dr. G. N. Acker, the president, entertained the members at his beautiful home, 913 16th street northwest. Dr. Jacoby was the guest of honor, and the physicians of Washington were presented to the well-known medical author. It was a brilliant assem-blage, the reception being attended by nearly the entire medical profession of the city. Dr. Acker made a genial host, an the evening was counted one of the pleas antest in the history of the society.

James H. Suit Buried. The funeral of the late James H. Suit, well-known citizen, for many years of the firm of Suit & Stewart, and a life-long resi dent of Washington, took place yester from the Immaculate Conception Church, and was largely attended, many following his remains to Mount Olivet cemetery, where the interment was made. Mr. Sult was born in what is now Eckington sixty-nine years ago, and spent his entire life in the northern part of the city. Learning the plastering business he followed it continuously—with the exception of a few years when he served on the old Auxiliary Guard under Capt. Goddard in ante-bellum days—up to a few months ago, when his health gave way under an attack of paralysis. He had quite recovered, but Monday morning he suffered a second stroke at his home, 1703 4th street northwest, which was instantly fatal. The concert of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra with Alex. Petschnikoff, the violinist, which was announced to take place at the National Theater this afternoon, has been postponed.

Ross Jungnickel, the leader of the orchestra, says that the postponement was because of the light advance sale. "I could not afford to give the concert," he said, "at a loss of $1,500, and that's what it looked like. I hoped that with the favorable impression made by the first concert the people of Washington would forward and support me in my efforts to give them symphony concerts. If in the next two weeks those who formerly were subscribers for the Boston Symphony Orchestra concerts will come forward and insure, by subscription, the financial success of these concerts, the series will be given; otherwise the project will be abandoned, and it will be a long time before Washingtonians will enjoy symphony concerts.

Mencelly's DISMISSAL.

Police Sergeant's Case as Presented to the Commissioners.

After long consideration, during which the voluminous testimony taken before the trial officer was carefully read, the District Commissioners yesterday approved the recommendation of Major Sylvester, the chief of police, that Police Sergeant Samuel A. McNeely be removed from the force. It was quite generally believed by those acquainted with the facts in the case that McNeely would be dismissed, and the announcement in yesterday's Star of the action of the Commissioners occasioned little surprise, especially among the members of the police officer.
